

NES Policy on Impartiality

- NES Top Management is free from the control of any individual or organization that may have a direct commercial interest in the products or services to be certificated. A commitment to impartiality in management system certification activities.
- NES and any entity under the organizational control of NES do not offer or provide:
 - Those services that it certifies others to perform
 - Consulting services to obtain or maintain certification
 - Services to design implement or maintain Quality Systems
- NES does not certify another certification body for its quality management system.
- NES & any entity under the organizational control of NES does not offer or provide internal audit services to its certified clients, or certify a management system on which internal audits were provided within two years of those audits having been completed.
- NES does not certify a management system on which a client has received management system consultancy or internal audits since last 2 years, where the relationship between the consultancy organization and the certification body poses an unacceptable threat to NES's impartiality.
- NES does not outsource audits to a management system consultancy organization, as this poses an unacceptable threat to the impartiality. However, NES may sub-contract audits to an external body in case of abroad clients only.
- NES's activities are not being marketed or offered as linked with the activities of an organization that provides management system consultancy.
- NES management and staff who have provided management system consultancy are not take part in any assessment or other certification activities if they have been involved in the provision of consultancy to the client in question within a two-year period following the end of the consultancy.
- NES are take action to respond to any threats to its impartiality arising from the actions of other persons, bodies or organizations.
- All NES personnel, either internal or external, or committees, who could influence the certification activities, are required to act impartially and are not allow commercial, financial or other pressures to compromise impartiality.
- NES requires all personnel (internal and external) to reveal any situation known to them that may present them or NES with a conflict of interests.
- NES uses this information as input to identifying threats to impartiality raised by the activities of such personnel or by the organizations that employ them, and will not use such personnel unless it can be demonstrated that there is no conflict of interests.

Signature:

Name & Position: osman. m. osman / president.

Date: 1.10.2017